

Rules for participation in training organized by TGE in the form of an online meeting:

1. The training is only available to participants registered in accordance with the rules set out in the Detailed rules for training and examinations organized by Towarowa Giełda Energii S.A.
2. TGE provides the training participant with a link to join the training in the online form - a meeting in Microsoft Teams or another application specified by TGE. The decision on the choice of application is made by TGE.
3. The link referred to above may only be used by a registered training participant.
4. On the day of the training, the training participant is required to join the online meeting in the application, in accordance with the agenda provided, using the link sent by TGE.
5. The participant is responsible for providing the equipment necessary to participate in the training conducted in the form of an online meeting.
6. Meeting participants undertake to meet the technical requirements published on the TGE website at the following link: TGE - Trainings for brokers candidates.
7. In order to ensure the quality of the connection, please do not use cameras during the entire meeting. The camera may only be turned on at the request of the presenter.
8. During the presentation, for the comfort of the training group, Participants should have their microphones turned off. The microphone should only be turned on in order to ask the presenter a question.
9. The use of a microphone is not mandatory – questions for the trainer can also be submitted in writing via chat. In order to ensure the smooth running of the presentation, please ask questions at the time designated by the trainer.
10. We recommend that participants attend the training in a room where they will not be disturbed by their surroundings. In order to maximize concentration on the presented content, we recommend the use of headphones.
11. The training agenda is subject to change. The estimated duration of the presentation and breaks will be determined and announced by the Organizer. Please observe the start times of the individual parts of the training. Requests to repeat the material due to Participants's being late will not be accommodated.
12. The training program includes short breaks between individual parts of the training and one longer break each day. We recommend that you leave your computer/mobile devices during breaks and take a moment to rest.
13. It is not permitted to record the training organized by the Exchange, or the materials presented during such training, using sound or image recording devices.
14. The materials made available to the training participant before and during the training may not be processed, shared, distributed, or used by the training participant for purposes other than preparing to conclude transactions on the TGE and taking the final exam for candidates for TGE Brokers.
15. Failure to comply with these rules of participation in the training may result in the participant being removed from the meeting. In such a situation, the fee for participation in the training and exam is not refundable.
